Education: Miami University, Oxford, OH, George Washington University<sup>72</sup>

Every summer from about age 10 to 18 I would go down to Quince's and Louise's house and work on the farm for a couple of weeks. They were saints because I was a stereotypical obnoxious teenager and, looking back, must have given them some anxious moments. But they let me come back year after year. They treated me like one of their children and I think of them as being second parents. I learned a lot from them.<sup>72</sup>

I went to college at Miami University in Oxford, Ohio and did graduate work at The George Washington University in DC. My early career was on the City Manager career track in Fairfax County, Virginia and Montgomery County, Maryland, and then moved to St. Petersburg, Florida. After a year or so there I decided to do what I had always wanted to do, which was become a lawyer, and went to Florida State University in Tallahassee. Met my wife there, Janice Scott from St. Petersburg, and we practiced law together for many years. She's now the senior attorney for the Chief Justice of the Florida Supreme Court and I'm semi-retired at age 73, but still represent reinsurance clients (insurance for insurance companies) before the legislature and executive branch of the state government. We have a daughter, Li XinTao Massie, who we adopted from Guangzhou, China, and who is now a senior at the University of Florida and will graduate in May. She plans to get a Masters in International Relations next year and then go to law school. She's the best thing that ever happened to us.

We live in Tallahassee on a small farm with some retired horses from our unexpected racing venture back in the 80's and 90's.<sup>72</sup>

Father: Dr. Ralph Mason Scott Sr. (23 Nov 1921-15 Aug 2019)

Mother: Alice Latine Francisco (26 Apr 1923-19 Oct 2013)

Education: University of Chicago 1976 B.S. Mathematics<sup>164</sup>

He grew up in Louisville, KY.

Mr Scott was a community organizer known for his work in environmental health. He was a tireless advocate for the reduction of lead hazards for children. He was a regular contributor to the Washington Post Style Invitational and more proud of being a Loser than having an Inker. Family and friends will fondly remember him for his love of challenging crossword puzzles, dogs and cats (especially strays), local and national politics, a good chocolate chip cookie, and Converse "Chuck" sneakers. He was gentle and kind, just a really good guy.

He worked in community organizing and as advocate to reduce lead poisoning in Chicago and New Jersey before coming to Washington. Mr. Scott came to Washington in 1997 and worked for 12 years with the Alliance for Healthy Homes. He participated in advocacy efforts to reduce lead levels in water in the District and elsewhere throughout the country. He often provided testimony at legislative hearings and managed projects examining toxic substances in homes. He was a frequent source for journalists reporting on environmental matters. At the time of his death, Mr. Scott was a policy and outreach coordinator at Parents for Nontoxic Alternatives, where he was a co-investigator on a foundation-sponsored study of national policy on lead in drinking water.<sup>164</sup> He was also a community organizer for The Arc, which provides assistance to people with developmental disabilities.

HA!! Great minds. I have wondered all my life the meaning of my name. All I knew was mama's uncle went to TX, got engaged, came back to Mecklenburg to settle up and go back to live. BUT he died before he could leave. He'd asked Grandma to name the baby ZADY, if it was a girl, after his fiance. Then when she was in hsp. once, a Jewish vol. told her it was Jewish but OF COURSE I didn't write it down. So got on the Internet a few months ago and found it's Yiddish for grandmother and grandfather-spelt a little different-and means protector-I think. So I think I've lived up to my name.

Occupation: paralegal at Meier Law, Charlotte, NC
Education: University of North Carolina at Asheville--B.A. French

In 1997, at the University of North Carolina at Asheville, I learned how to browse the internet. One question had lingered long on my twenty year old mind; what does my name mean? After all, Malindi is a town on the coast of Kenya. My Father (Bibb) visited Kenya in 1967 and reported that they spoke a beautiful version of the Queen's English. Surely, I thought, there's a deeper meaning to my name! So I searched the World Wide Web for a Swahili-to-English dictionary. The search results returned horrifying information. Apparently, Malindi was Swahili for 'cesspool'.

Back then, I didn't have a cell phone so I had to go back to my apartment to telephone my Father on a landline. When he answered, I unleashed a mighty amount of horror upon him. "Cesspool?? You named me after a CESSPOOL???" Luckily, he's a laid back guy & handled the whole situation much better than I. "Hey," he said, "People think I was named after something a baby drools on! You know who you are. Deal with it." Since then, I've only told a handful of people what my name means, and never, ever have I volunteered the information. It's embarrassing!

Fast forward to 2 hours ago in the conference room at my office. An African woman came in to speak to us about her friend. Her accent puzzled me and I asked her where she was from. After all, she spoke with in a slightly Southern version of the Queen's English. "Kenya," she said. "My name is Malindi!," I exclaimed. We talked, and she revealed to me that she spoke 13 languages. "So," I said, "you certainly know what my name means in Swahili." Of course she did. "Malindi means the shepherd, the one who travels with others to make sure they are safe."

"You mean I'm not a cesspool?" I asked. Her face conveyed bewilderment at the question. "Malindi means shepherd," she reassured.

Cosmically, I can make total sense of shepherd. Then again I would take anything over cesspool. And I called Dad and apologized for my tirade twenty years ago. He's still laid back. Thank goodness some things never change.
